ASSEMBLY

AIR OR ENERGY CELL

The energy cells may be removed from the cylinder head if replacement or inspection of the cells are necessary. It will be necessary to remove the intake manifold before the energy cells can be removed. To remove energy cells, suitable pullers are necessary. An energy cell puller J-6306 may be obtained through the Kent-Moore organization. This puller may be used with their slide hammer puller and adapter set number J-6471-02.

The only faults of the energy cell is plugging or burning. Plugging is caused by malfunction of the nozzle. Burning is the result of unburnt fuel. If eroded, they should be replaced.

When installing an energy cell, the seal surface at the head and at the cap must be lapped with fine compound to provide an air tight seal, as no gaskets are used. Leaking energy cell seats, or caps, causes a severe knocking sound.
